12 Ways to Reduce Worker's Comp Costs

The name of the game is preventing accidents. Of course we can't prevent every accident from happening, but we can certainly reduce the potential for accidents, and thereby reduce claims, which translates into lower premiums. Our risk management services include proven strategies for reducing claims and lowering premiums. Some of those services include: READ MORE

Laying someone off? The recession has increased the number of employee lawsuits

The recession didn't just hurt companies' sales, profits, and cash flow. For some, the economic downturn also resulted in more employee lawsuits claiming everything from discrimination to sexual harassment. During the downturn, the number of what's widely known as employment practices liability claims grew. Claims are expensive to defend. READ MORE
